Description

A woman's day dress in soft tan crisp silk, constructed with a hidden front closure of hooks and eyes set along an asymmetrical wide blue bib front collar edged with narrow black piping. The bodice is constructed kimono style, with sleeves and bodice cut as one without shoulder seams. The elbow-length sleeves are trimmed with light blue silk cuffs edged with black piping and with attached white net lace undersleeves. The front of the dress skirt is asymmetrically draped, with sets of large blue silk covered buttons with glossy black rims on the front and sides of the skirt. The dress also includes an eyelet net lace front yoke insert with an attached high collar, with celluloid support tabs sewn on the inside for support. The dress also has an attached lightweight muslin inner bodice with hook and eye closure.
