Doll

Medium

Parian (bisque) porcelain, cotton, sawdust, silk gauze, silk, leather

Description

A lady doll with untinted bisque shoulder-head. The doll's molded and painted features include blonde hair set in a blue painted snood (decorative hair net) with light blue molded ribbons at the left and right side of the face, blue eyes, rosy cheeks, and a closed mouth. The doll has bisque forearms sewn to a cotton cloth body stuffed with sawdust. The doll wears an oyster white silk gauze dress constructed with a low boat neck, elbow-length puffed sleeves, and a "baby" pleated waist with a ribbed silk waistband above a full skirt with five rows of ribbed silk bands above the hem. A small silk flower bunch is sewn to the waistband. The doll also wears white cotton pantaloons trimmed with loop lace, a plain white cotton chemise, a sturdy cotton petticoat, a white cotton over-petticoat trimmed with Valenciennes lace, knitted cotton stockings in off white with brown and tan narrow horizontal striping at the ankles, and bright red leather slippers.
