Silk taffeta, glazed cotton, whalebone, silk fringe

Description

A woman's one piece gown of plaid silk taffeta in brown, black, tan, and off-white. The dress is constructed as one piece, with a front hook-and-eye closure and a "dogleg" style waistband closure. The gown's long sleeves flare out from shoulder to wrist. Both bodice and skirt are lined with glazed brown cotton. The high round neckline as well as the shoulder seams are piped. The hem of the gown is faced with brown glazed cotton. Attached small "wings" are sewn over the shoulders, tapering to the waistband. Golden brown silk fringe is sewn to the wing panels, upper sleeves, and along the sleeve ends.
