Doll Quilt

Medium

Variety of cotton prints

Description

A small square quilt, likely made for a doll, with both sides pieced, using at least 38 different calico prints in shades of brown, blue, pink, green, tan, white, red, dull yellow, pale yellow, in stripes, ombres, chintz, seaweed, spots, floral sprigs, and much else. On the first side, two center pieces squares of an "X" block and a Pinwheel block, with several four-patch blocks and single patch "fill-in" panels to even out the overall panel. On the verso, a hundred small square patches arranged 10 x 10, in four x four four-patch blocks, in an array of fabrics. A narrow binding of pieces fabrics edges the quilt. The quilt is tied with plain cotton thread at each square and corner throughout.
