Description

View of a dilapidated story and a half dwelling with a five bay facade, gable roof, and two chimneys at the gable ends. A single story three bay extension to its left also has a single chimney and a lean-to shed addition on the left. Many areas of shingles on the main structure, and horizontal weather boards on the extension, have been removed. Holes appear in the roof. A board fence out of repair extends from the front right corner of the building, with a hill in the distance. Bushes appear behind the extension on the left.
