

Banister Back Arm Chair

Primary Maker

Michael Maps

Medium

Maple, ash

Description

This arm chair features a yoke shaped crest rail and a plain rectangular shoe with five flat grooved banisters flanked by a pair of baluster turned stiles ending in tapered button finials. The chair's arms end in unusual flattened circular terminals, and are supported by two baluster turned arm supports which have conical terminals where they enter the arms. The lower front posts, which incorporate flattened ball elements, end in small ball feet, which are original. The front pair of stretchers are sausage turned, whereas the side and rear stretchers are plain. The woven rush seat is a recent replacement.
